Nearly 3-way primary tie captured by Byron

Headlines across the nation proclaim President Jimmy Carter (left photo) and Ronald Reagan (right picture) as the delegate and preferential victors in Tuesday's Illinois Democratic and Republican primaries, respectively. Even more dramatic news was provided locally by an unprecedented virtual three-way deadlock for the Madison County state's attorney nomination.

With Alton Precinct Eight results not available until the official canvass of the election, due to mistaken handling of the data by poll judges, two-term State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron of Edwardsville is the apparent primary winner with 8,580 votes. Dick Allen of Granite City totaled 8,502 and William R. Haine of Alton received 8,328. A big win in the missing Alton precinct would be needed by Haine to move into second or first place in the three-way battle.

Christ Costoff, produced 979 votes for Byron to Allen's 750 and Haine's 503. Byron received the county party's endorsement; Haine sought it unsuccessfully, and independent Democrat Allen did not participate in the screening interviews. Allen led in Granite City with 2,653 to 1,707 for Byron and 943 for Haine; in Nameoki Township with 714 to 581 for Byron and 384 for Haine; and in Granite Cityman A. Andreas Matoesian, an associate judge and former circuit judge, won the Democratic circuit judge nomination Tuesday over Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman, 13,496 to 11,744. The totals are from 221 of the 222 Madison County precincts; Alton 6 figures have not yet been determined by Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Madison County Recorder of Deeds Ronald P. Lucas of Maryville captured another of the Democratic nominations, 15,589 to 10,896 for David A. Knoblauch of Wood River.

Temperatures reaching 61 and sunny weather brought out more than 27,300 Democratic voters and over 14,000 Republican ballot recipients in the county. Many Democrats switched parties for the primary to aid presidential contenders Ronald Reagan or John B. Anderson statewide.

Madison Countyans and Quad-Cityans mirrored the state trends which saw President Jimmy Carter (Democrat) of Georgia and Ronald Reagan (Republican), former California governor, receive majority preferential and delegate votes, and two Belleville residents, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon (D) and Lieutenant Governor David C. O'Neal (R), earn U. S. Senate nominations.

The Quad-City 1980 primary election turnout of 14,488 consisted of 11,815 Democrats and 2,673 Republicans. Breakdowns of the turnout show 6,017 (D) and 1,707 (R) in Granite City, 1,859 and 1,077 in Nameoki Township, 1,100 and 352 in Chouteau Township and 2,739 and 107 in Venice Township (Madison and Venice area).

In the Quad-City area, Granite City, Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice Townships, in that order, the Matoesian and Chapman tallies were 5,551 to 5,041.

Attorney Harry E. Hartman, 55, dies

Harry Edward Hartman, 55, of 3340 Red Bud Ave., an attorney for 28 years serving the Quad-City area, died at 8:15 p.m. Monday at his home.

Hartman, who had suffered a heart attack in May 1978, is believed to have been stricken with another heart attack Monday evening. He was found in the bathroom by his wife at 8:15. An ambulance crew was unable to revive him and he was pronounced dead at 8:56 by Deputy Coroner David Partney.

He was a graduate of the St. Louis University School of Law and had law offices at 2003 State St.

Mr. Hartman was a member of the Illinois State Bar Association and was the municipal attorney for the city of Venice and the village of Maryville. He also was the attorney for the Venice Park District, Brooklyn Park District and Madison County sewer district, a

Arson suspected in big warehouse fire

By PAT FOLEY
of the Press-Record
An abandoned warehouse at 1689 Grand Ave., owned by the Tri-City Grocery Co. and used most recently as a records storage facility, was destroyed by fire Monday evening. Granite City firemen responded to the three-alarm blaze after the initial call at 8:50 p.m. by security officers of Granite City Steel.

The officers were patrolling the 16th Street parking lot of the company when they noticed flames coming from the structure and heard a loud roar apparently caused by the fire. They reported that the flames grew rapidly and quickly engulfed the building.

Arson is suspected in the fire, which destroyed the 100 by 150 foot building. A witness saw a man run from the scene as the fire began.

Granite City police took a suspect into custody at 12:50 a.m. Tuesday and questioned the individual until releasing him at 2:30 a.m. pending further investigation.

The structure had no insurable value, according to Tri-City company officials, contacted by the fire department. The building was not insured.

Four pumpers and the aerial unit of the fire department responded to the blaze, which could be seen for several blocks in all directions.

A pumper from the Nameoki station stayed on call at the main fire station for the duration of the blaze.

Twenty-six firefighters were at the scene, necessitating the recalling of an off-duty shift for assistance. Eleven streams, using more than 4,000 feet of hose, were used to battle the fire.

Firemen were on the scene for more than six hours and one pumper remained at the scene through most of Tuesday on standby status to extinguish spot fires which rekindled.

SPECTACULAR BLAZE Monday evening which could be seen for several blocks. It destroyed an old warehouse at 1689 Grand Ave., owned by the Tri-City Grocery Co. Twenty-six firemen, four pumpers and the Granite City Fire Department aerial unit were needed to fight the three-alarm fire reported by Granite City Steel security officers at 8:50. Arson is believed to be the cause of the blaze and a suspect was taken into custody for nearly two hours early Tuesday morning for questioning; the suspect was released pending further investigation. The structure had formerly housed the Draper Planing Mill.

Kindergarten registration

In announcing registration dates for next year's kindergarten classes, Granite City School District Nine Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis has urged the cooperation of all parents of children who will start kindergarten in September.

Registration of all such children this spring will enable the school district to anticipate more accurately both the space and personnel needed, he said.

Any child who will be five years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1980, is eligible to enroll in kindergarten.

Kindergarten classes are half-day sessions and are held at each local elementary school.

A birth certificate and immunization record should be presented at the time of registration. These must be presented before actual attendance can begin in the fall, Davis noted.

Illinois law states that no child may enter school for the first time without the following immunizations: whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, rubella (measles) and rubella (3-day measles). Exceptions are made only for religious or medical reasons.

Physical and dental examinations are also required before attendance in kindergarten may begin. These forms are distributed to parents at the time of registration so that appointments for the exams can be arranged during the summer.

School nurses will be available at the time of registration to explain health regulations to parents and also to review the immunization record.

Registration days at the various elementary schools are as follows:

Monday, April 14: Frohardt, Lake, Maryville and Parkview.
Tuesday, April 15: Emerson, Johnson, Logan, Webster and Wilson.
Wednesday, April 16: Marshall, Mitchell, Nameoki and Niedringhaus.

Registration will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 2:30 p.m. on the designated days.

The child being registered should accompany the parent. Any questions concerning the registration can be answered by the principal of the neighborhood elementary school or by Vasil Efthymiou, director of pupil personnel services at the Board of Education office (876-6600).

Pre-school registration will be conducted during the same time as the kindergarten registration. The only difference in requirements is the child will be four years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1980.

The six elementary buildings qualifying for the Pre-School Program are: Emerson, Marshall, Lake, Webster, Logan and Wilson.

Parents of students presently enrolled in pre-school are not required to fill out additional records because all records will be sent to the school where they will attend kindergarten. Also, students will be tested at the Pre-School Center for kindergarten placement. "If your child is

Joan Wimer, a seventh grader at Prather Junior High School, earned first place in a Language Arts spelling bee held last week.

Language arts teachers of the winners are Mrs. Roberta Cottrell, Mrs. Carol Hildebrand and Mrs. Charlene Buenger.

absent on the day of testing, the director of the Pre-School Center will be in touch with you to arrange the makeup date," Supt. Davis concluded.

Nominated in Madison County

ARTHUR PETE FIELDS
Currently chief deputy Madison County auditor, he gained the Democratic nomination for county auditor in Tuesday's balloting.

MRS. DALLAS BURKE
Madison County corner, she is seeking re-election and was nominated for that office by Democratic voters in this week's primary.

RODERICK BAUDER
A member of the Madison County Board from District 23, he garnered the Democratic nomination on Tuesday to run for that office.

Urges flood coverage

While the probability and magnitude of spring flooding cannot be predicted at this time, Mayor Paul Schuler has reminded Granite City residents that they may acquire flood insurance.

"Under normal conditions one can assume there will be some flooding somewhere in Illinois," the mayor said. In a warning issued this week, Mayor Schuler said: "Since the city of Granite City is participating in the National Flood Insurance program, a flood insurance policy can be purchased from any insurance agent who sells property insurance."

"Flood insurance policies cover all direct loss by flood which is defined as a general or temporary condition of partial or complete inundation of normally dry land areas."

"This definition includes the overflow of a body of water such as a lake, stream or ditch; the unusual or rapid runoff of surface water; sewer backup or a high water table, that occur during or are due to surface flooding."

Mayor Schuler said the policy offers low-cost, federally-subsidized coverage against damage by flooding; for example, a single-family homeowner can purchase a $10,000 policy on his home's contents for $35 per year. Any building within the corporate limits can be insured, the mayor said, whether or not it is in the floodplain.

Structural coverage can be purchased for any wall and roofed structure, including a mobile home attached to a permanent site, the mayor noted, adding that the contents of homes and buildings also are insurable even if the structure is not insured. It is important to remember that there is a five-day waiting period before coverage on flood insurance policies goes into effect, the mayor said.

Granite City residents to do three things. "First, residents should check the floodplain map available for their use at the city hall to determine if they are in a floodplain area," the mayor noted.

"Second, they should contact their insurance agent, or any insurance agent who sells property insurance. Third, they should write the Illinois Division of Water Resources (300 N. State St., Room 1010, Chicago, Ill. 60610) and ask for a free copy of a new publication, "Protecting Your House from Flood Damage." The publication contains information to help people before, during and after a flood," the mayor concluded.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT
Jerry Wiser, 16, of 532 Chouteau Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center early this week after he was involved in a motorcycle accident. He suffered minor abrasions to his right side, forehead, right arm, shoulder and right leg and was released after treatment.

Disposal of court cases shows gain

Courts of the Third Judicial Circuit disposed of 477 cases during February, 47 heavy termination of cases for a short month, Circuit Clerk Willard V. Portell reported Tuesday.

A total of 4,464 cases was filed during the month, Portell said.

He said the most significant gain in the number of cases handled was in the law-jury category. There also was a substantial gain in the number of divorce and felony cases terminated last month.

Portell added, noting that the gain was even more significant because these types of cases are the most time-consuming.

A total of 94 law cases—involving claims for more than $15,000—was disposed of in jury trials during the month while 16 cases were disposed of without a jury, the report said. There were 1,434 such cases still pending a jury trial and 529 non-jury cases pending at the end of February.

Forty-two jury cases and 48 non-jury cases involving claims of $1,000 to $15,000 were disposed of during February, Portell reported, leaving 591 jury cases and 729 non-jury cases pending.

The courts disposed of 313 divorce cases last month, leaving 1,265 divorce cases pending. One hundred forty-nine new divorce petitions were filed during the month.

Also during February, the courts disposed of 45 juvenile cases, 32 felony cases, 218 misdemeanor cases and 327 small claim cases.

In other type actions, the judges disposed of 91 probate cases, 366 ordinance violations, 2,807 traffic violations and three conservation violations.

Of 46 defendants convicted in felony cases, nine received prison sentences, three were given probation with periodic imprisonment and 34 received probation or other conditional discharge.

Court officials nominated

MOSES W. HARRISON

Currently serving by appointment as a Fifth Appellate District judge, he gained the Democratic nomination Tuesday for an appellate judicial position succeeding George J. Moran.

WILLARD V. PORTELL

The veteran circuit court clerk of the Third Judicial Circuit earned the Democratic nomination in Tuesday's primary and will seek reelection in the November general election.

Reward offered in murder investigation

The father of a young woman whose body was found beside the body of her boyfriend on Rock Road Feb. 24 is offering a $500 cash reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for his daughter's murder.

The bodies of Miss Charlotte Diana Jackson, 21, Affton, Mo., and James David Alred, 30, Tupelo, Miss., were found on the north side of Rock Road about one-fourth mile north of West Pontoon Road by children playing in the wooded area. The bodies were in plain sight of the roadway and authorities believe they were murdered elsewhere and their bodies were then dumped here.

She had been stabbed repeatedly in the abdomen and both had sustained severe head wounds. Their hands were tied behind their backs with silver duct tape and their feet were tied upwards to their belts, authorities said.

Mr. Alred was known to have used the nicknames "Danny Red," "Cowboy" and "Shovel Head."

Persons who may be able to help deputies trace the activities of either of the victims Feb. 22, 23 or 24 are being requested to contact the Madison County Sheriff's Department deputies at 1-892-4433. Information given will be kept confidential, deputies pledged.

Hazardous waste fee starts April 1

As a result of legislation signed last September by Governor James Thompson (House Bill 453), Illinois law will require a mandatory fee for disposal of hazardous wastes, creating a hazardous waste fund.

Effective April 1, the Hazardous Waste Disposal Fee System will require the Illinois EPA to collect one cent per gallon or $2.02 per cubic yard of hazardous waste received from owners and operators of sanitary landfill sites.

This will affect waste disposal sites around the state presently permitted to accept hazardous wastes.

The $25 million "Hazardous Waste Fund" may be used under the discretion of the governor and the director of Illinois EPA for certified environmental emergencies.

Examples of these emergencies might be abandoned chemical dumps or emergency spills posing major environmental hazards.

Criteria defining hazardous wastes will be published in the March 28, 1980, issue of the Illinois Register. Copies of the publication are available from the Office of the Secretary of State, Division of Rules and Regulations, 490 Centennial Building, Springfield 62706 at a cost of $5 per issue.

Citizens wanting further information about the fee system may contact Mike Miller, Division of Land Pollution Control, 2200 Churchill Road, Springfield 62706 (telephone 217-782-6760).

Pinewood derby in scout district

The race might not have the national coverage of the Daytona 500 or the Indianapolis 500 but to Cub Scouts of the Uniwah District (Quad-City area), the Pinewood Derby on Saturday will be just as exciting and important.

The event will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. in the St. Elizabeth School cafeteria, Pontoon and Johnson Roads.

Each cub pack may enter three cars that meet the standard regulations; these may be new or old cars.

The entry fee is $5 per pack to help defray cost of trophies and ribbons.

Each entry car will be weighed and the weight must not exceed five ounces. Wheel bearings, washers and bushings are prohibited and the car may not ride on any type of springs.

Packs entering cars are to notify James Graham, derby chairman, 931-6652, or Ned Freeman, 876-0686, by Friday.

School boards will hear panel

Area school board members and superintendents will gather at Red Bud High School at 6 p.m. Wednesday, March 26, to take part in a semi-annual dinner meeting of the Southwestern Division of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

The evening meeting consists of a dinner and one panel session where board members will be able to question experts in the areas of school law, legislation, and collective bargaining.

Also included on the program will be an association report by Richard Wisner, IASB director of field services.

The IASB is a voluntary service organization of about 1,000 school boards in Illinois, with headquarters in Springfield. George Moore Sr. of Granite City is a member of the IASB board.

The Southwestern Division includes the following counties: Jersey, Madison, Monroe, Randolph and St. Clair.

From 7:45 to 9:15 p.m., panel members will be: Donald Sledge — Legislation; assistant executive director, Illinois Association of School Administrators; Brian A. Braun — School Law; attorney, director of Management Services, Springfield; and Ronald R. Booth — Collective Bargaining; director, Management Information, IASB.

The 65-year-old building had housed the Draper Planing Mill many years ago and had been purchased by Tri-City in 1960. The company used the structure until 1978. Some records and other paper products were still in a basement area and made fighting the blaze more difficult, according to fire department officials.

An Illinois Power Co. feeder circuit along Grand Avenue was burned through by the fire at approximately 9 p.m. and 622 customers were without power for about 40 minutes.

Eighteen to 20 customers were still without power until shortly after 8 a.m. Tuesday as repair crews worked through the night to restore service to all of those affected.

Only one residence was known to have been without electricity for the 11-hour period. Other customers affected were mostly warehouses and businesses not yet open for business Tuesday morning.

The 4,160-volt feeder circuit interrupted by the fire serves an area from 10th to 17th streets bordered on the east by Edwardsville Road and on the west by State Street.

A sub-station of Illinois Power is located at 17th and Grand Avenue, just a few hundred feet north of the fire scene. Power company officials commended the fire department personnel for their efforts which kept the sub-station out of danger from the fire.

The sub-station also serves a major portion of the downtown area. Another old building between the fire and the station was also protected from the flames. It is presently being used for a salvaging operation.

Related damage caused by the fire included the windshield of a van owned by Simon Vaughn, 2511 Sheridan Ave.; it cracked due to the intense heat of the fire. The paint of the van was also damaged.

The car of Virden Chiri, 3013 Buxton Ave., was damaged by the fire.

Some of the other vehicles parked in the Granite City Steel parking lot across Grand Avenue from the warehouse were also damaged, but no reports on them had been received by the police on Tuesday.

Ronald Martin, 22, of 516 Third St., Venice, was arrested at 17th Street and Grand Avenue and charged with driving over fire hoses at 9:30 p.m. Monday while the blaze was being fought.

A 9-year-old girl walking in the 1700 block of Venice Avenue about 3:10 p.m. Tuesday had a gun pointed at her by the driver of an auto which nearly stopped beside her, she told authorities afterward.

The girl said she and two girlfriends were walking home from school when an old light blue station wagon slowed and the driver pointed what appeared to be a blue snub-nosed revolver at her.

There were two other men in the car, but they did not participate. The driver did not say anything, she related. The three girls ran away and the car left west on Venice Avenue.

The driver had short light hair and a mustache. He wore dark glasses and a short-sleeved green shirt, the girls related.

Two young men were beaten with boards and chains in the 2000 block of Missouri Avenue at 1 a.m. Wednesday and one was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Ricky Cog, 23, of 2129 Dewey Ave., suffered abrasions to his face when he was struck with a chain and was kicked several times by four men. His right eye was swollen shut, authorities said. He was admitted to the medical center.

Timothy I. Flaughter, 17, of 1715 Edison Ave., was taken to the medical center by police, but he declined to be arrested and was released after police questioned him.

When the two left, four young men were waiting for them outside, it was related. One got a board from a car and swung it at Cox, who stopped it with his arm, but Cox then was struck with a chain by another young man.

Energy problem solving promised by area university

By SAM SMITH
Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has made a commitment to provide the leadership necessary for effective solutions to the area's energy problems, according to a report delivered to the SIUE Board of Trustees by the local university's acting president, Earl Lazerson.

"Energy and environmental problems are vitally important to the people of Southwestern Illinois," Lazerson said. "Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will continue to devote appropriate resources to these concerns as an integral part of our mission."

"He said that during the past decade, SIUE has devoted 'much effort' to problems relating to energy and the environment."

"Studies in energy and environmental policy by our Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services, and the Schools of Science and Technology, Social Sciences, and Business have resulted in a substantial body of information regarding energy use and environmental impact in the region we serve."

"These activities have been particularly beneficial to government officials responsible for decisions affecting energy and environmental resources in this region, and indeed, the state of Illinois."

The acting president said the information contained in the report represents an example of the university's energy-related activities.

"The activities are representative of our increasing concern for effective and sound energy utilization and management. We are certain that current sensitivity to energy issues will have direct ramifications for this region," he said.

The examples cited include research in utilizing solar energy and developing alternative fuel sources. One of the houses on the SIUE campus has been equipped with two banks of solar collectors and a thermal storage system for supplemental heating, coupled to an existing system.

The system will be available for solar demonstrations to potential users in the public and private sectors.

Also of current interest is the university's solar still, designed to extract alcohol produced by the fermentation of agricultural products, primarily corn.

The intent is to develop a design that might be used by an individual farmer to extend his fuel supply by using the alcohol directly or as a mixture with gasoline. Other examples listed in the president's report include research in producing methane from animal wastes; energy consumption studies; land use and energy utilization and conservation; cogeneration of electricity; electric utility load structure; pricing of electricity; potential use of energy in the St. Louis metropolitan region; and pollution, environmental concerns regarding the use of coal; and mine subsidence problems.

Lazerson concluded, "Many have become acutely aware of the complexity of energy systems and the difficulties involved in modeling such systems for the purpose of understanding their operation."

"Universities, legislative bodies such as the Energy Resource Commission, and agencies such as the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency can and must play an important role in understanding these complex systems and simultaneously suggesting methods of solving the problems within these systems."

Workshop on conservation of fuel use

The second in a series of fuel conservation workshops to be held around the state will be presented Tuesday, March 25, in Belleville.

The workshop is being sponsored by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), the Institute of Natural Resources, and the Illinois Department of Administrative Services.

Issues that will be discussed include:

- Oil recycling.
- Engine efficiency.
- Fuel management systems.
- Local official involvement.
- Illinois gasoline program.

—Alcohol, Illinois' renewable energy.

In addition, energy conservation activities in Southwestern Illinois will be highlighted by area officials.

According to DCCA Director John W. Castle, "A twenty percent saving in local fuel budgets is possible by putting ideas presented in this workshop into practice."

The workshop is designed for mayors, city managers, purchasing agents, finance officers, fire officials, fleet managers, public works officials, and county board members.

The workshop will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the St. Clair County Courthouse in Belleville. There is no charge for attending.

Other workshops in the series are being held in Carbondale, Springfield, Rock Island, Rockford and Palatine.

Computers to provide more personalized health care

Computers someday may help physicians give more personal attention to their patients, says a University of Illinois College of Medicine professor.

Allan H. Levy, M.D., who heads a U. of I. program designed to train doctors in computer science related to medicine, believes computers can assist with some of the technical aspects of diagnosis and treatment, freeing physicians to spend more time in personal contact with patients.

Computers also will be able to provide quick references for doctors needing information on specific diseases or procedures, said Levy, a professor both in the medical school and in the computer science department at the Urbana-Champaign campus.

The Urbana medical school is a component of the U. of I. College of Medicine based in Chicago. More physicians trained in computer science are needed to develop computer systems that can be used in health care, Levy said.

Thus the medical school and the department of computer science in Urbana jointly sponsor a unique two-year program designed especially for qualified physicians.

Funded by a five-year grant from the National Library of Medicine (NLM), the program offers medical doctors 1½ years of course work and a half year of independent research, leading to the professional degree of master of computer science.

Interest in the program was up noticeably this year, Levy noted. "We're not sure why," he said. "Maybe the program is getting better known, but probably physicians are becoming more aware of the potential uses of computers in health care."

Seven doctors, five supported by the NLM grant and two who came on their own, entered the training program this year.

One of them is a health planning specialist who may use computers in analyzing patterns of health services needs in a given community or region.

Levy also expects an expanded use of computers in medical record keeping and information systems.

University of Illinois researchers already have been working to develop a new small computer system for storage and retrieval of clinical records and medical information.

U. of I. scientists also are working on methods of organizing a body of medical knowledge into a computer data base designed flexibly enough that new discoveries and developments could be added.

"The doctor could use the computer to refresh or update himself on a given subject," Levy explained.

"Eventually, information about specific patients could be fed into the computer for assistance in making a diagnosis or deciding treatment. The computer would supplement the physician's knowledge and clinical judgment."

Levy also anticipates development of new computerized equipment for use in specific diagnostic tests and medical treatments. For example, computers could be used more in analyzing electroencephalograms or in controlling artificial limbs or other types of prostheses, he said.

Pistol competition held by Explorers

Miss Kim Duckworth, post adviser to newly chartered Explorer Post 80, won pistol competition held over the weekend at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen, near Potosi, Mo.

Post 80 was officially chartered last week and is sponsored by Dr. Jack Miller and Associates.

Leaders of the new Explorer group and six of their members were guests of Madison Explorer Post 10-4 for a weekend campout.

Among the activities was a pistol shooting contest.

The initial competition resulted in a tie between Miss Duckworth and Mike Schaffner, second vice-president of 10-4.

Three additional matches were held between the two finalists before the tie was broken.

A Pepsi can full of 22 caliber holes was awarded the winner along with a smaller trophy.

Among the other activities the group practiced were search and rescue techniques and wilderness survival.

Post 80 is a medical specialty group and Post 10-4 is a law enforcement specialty post.

Attending from Post 80

were Eric Maass, Mike Johnson, David Jones, Michelle Krusec, Julie Johnson and Donna Headrick.

Post 80 leaders were Miss Duckworth, Mrs. Genia Fox, RN, and William Fox, scouting coordinator of Post 80 and committee member of Post 10-4.

Post 10-4 members attending were John Bargiel, Leo Tormino, Joseph Anselmo, Kerry Greer, Schaffner, Tim Vanderveer, Barry Reynolds, Lloyd Blumenstock, Joe Boneau, Ed Patterson, Vince Donah, Jim Klaus and Mickey Topal.

Leaders from 10-4 were Roger McFain and W. F. "Mike" Strange, who coordinated the activity.

Members of the two groups who were of the Roman Catholic faith attended Mass in Potosi, Mo., early Saturday evening.

On Sunday morning the group made a historical study stop at the grave of Moses Austin in Potosi.

Moses Austin (1761-1821) and his son Stephen Fuller Austin (1793-1836) were two American pioneers in Texas.

The father planned the first American colony in Texas, which was then part of Mexico.

In 1821, Moses Austin obtained a grant of land from the Mexican government. But he died before he could establish a colony.

Austin operated lead mines in Missouri around Potosi.

His son started the colony in 1822 and the city of Austin, Texas, was named after him.

A modern gaslight burns over the large concrete tomb of Moses Austin in Potosi.

years ago, the grave was lighted by a kerosene lamp.

Near the turn of the century, a group of Texans came to Potosi to take the remains of the elder Austin to Texas. The Texans were driven off by the ranchers and miners of the Potosi area, who have since kept the tomb well lit.

After the Texan attempt to take the body, it was entombed in a large mass of solid concrete, the Explorers learned during their visit.

All-city chorus festival well attended

PEOPLE

About 875 persons attended the fourth annual Granite City All City Vocal Festival in Memorial Gymnasium to hear the combined elementary, junior high and high school choruses, under the direction of Robert Fuller (in photo at right), director of choruses for Oak Park (Ill.) High School.

About 385 students participated in an all-day workshop with the guest conductor before the concert.

The elementary school chorus of about 125 pupils sang, "Come, Jesus, Holy Son of God, The Water is Wide, Mr. Meter Man, and Take Me Home, Country Roads, accompanied by Patricia Michaeloff on the piano. The combined junior high choruses sang "Alleluia, The Power and the Glory, the Tennessee Wig-Walk and Suncatcher, accompanied by Sterling Schoen. The combined senior high choruses performed "He, Watching Over Israel, Annie Laurie, Jump Shout Boogie and That's Entertainment, with Patricia Dineff accompanying them.

The program concluded with the three choruses combining (top photo) to sing "It's Time to Boogie."

The audience filled the north bleachers and balcony of the gymnasium for the event, as shown in the photo at left, over the shoulders of students in the elementary school chorus.

Below, the elementary school children tried to keep their attention on the singers on stage, who were on their right, but found it difficult, since their thoughts were on their part in the upcoming finale.

Fuller congratulated the parents in the audience for their interest in their children's music and reminded the audience, "Each voice is one of a kind. It has never been heard before and will never be duplicated. It should be cherished."

Illinois state budget review

Governor James R. Thompson last week ordered State Bureau of the Budget Director Robert Mandeville to review all state spending plans.

"It appears that federal aid cuts under active consideration by the president and Congress could have a significant impact on state and local programs not only in Fiscal Year 1981, but also in the six and one-half months remaining in federal FY 1980.

"We need to be ready to respond quickly when the federal cuts become final," said Thompson.

Clarence Thompson dies

Clarence Thompson, 74, of Urbana, Ill., formerly of Granite City, died at 8 a.m.

He had been ill for several years and died of cancer.

Mr. Thompson was born in Granite City and moved from this area about 15 years ago.

While living here, he worked as a foreman at Granite City Steel.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Jessie Thompson; two daughters; grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Phama Donohue of Granite City; and nieces and nephews of Granite City.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Monday in Edgewood, Ill. Burial was in Edgewood Cemetery.

Saturday, March 15, at an Urbana hospital.

He had been ill for several years and died of cancer.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Louis Farenzena Jr., 26, Collinsville, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and careless driving after his auto allegedly struck the parked car of Robert Holshouser, 1810 August St., at Sheridan Avenue and August Street at 3:25 a.m. Tuesday. ### Reciprocal classes at SIUE, state college

A cooperative educational program between Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and State Community College in East St. Louis has been approved by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The agreement involves a reciprocal tuition arrangement and furthers the recommendations of the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) concerning programmatic actions of the two institutions.

The IBHE recommended

in October 1978 that the institutions should cooperate on a number of activities and programs, and the substance of these recommendations was developed by SIUE into a plan for future activities at the East St. Louis Center which was approved by the board on April 12, 1979.

University officers said the new agreement begins implementation of the plan for SIUE "to develop and institute upper division, capstone and graduate programs in areas which meet distinctive community needs."

The program will be limited to home economics, allied health careers, including medical records administration, and other complementary program areas which may develop in the future, subject to approval by the university.

The guidelines stipulate that SIUE students will be permitted to take SCC courses and that SCC students will be permitted to take SIUE courses, both in approved program area.

Admission of students enrolled at SIUE to take courses offered by SCC will be controlled strictly by the university, and all such students will at all times be considered exclusively enrolled at SIUE, and vice versa for SCC students.

Students will be assessed tuition and fees by the "parent" institution, and credit hours will be accounted for and reported by the institution which offers the course.

Approval of the program makes various SCC courses, which are presently not offered by the university, available to SIUE students.

Boothman loses, 2 incumbents win in County Board election

Homer Boothman, incumbent County Board member of board district 25 in the Nameoki Township area, was defeated in Tuesday's Democratic primary election.

Boothman lost the nomination to Richard Peck, former town collector, by a vote of 544 for Peck to 202 for Boothman. The district is made up of Nameoki precincts 2, 4, and 7, Granite City 12, and Collinsville precinct 13.

Peck received 197, 90 and 180 votes respectively in the three Nameoki precincts, 92 votes in Granite City precinct 12 and 85 votes in the Collinsville precinct.

In two other board districts in this area, Democratic voters renominated incumbent board members, one unopposed. And in a fourth Quad-City district, a newcomer gained the Democratic nomination.

Voters of Granite City's County Board district 22 renominated Herbert Milton as the Democratic candidate. Milton defeated Paul W. Kratz 598 to 357, a vote of 544 for Peck to 202 for Boothman. The district is made up of Granite City precincts 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 15 and 25 in which Milton

The U.S. Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has mailed invitations to county warehouses offering to buy corn which was suspended from shipment to the Soviet Union. The warehouses all are approved under the uniform grain storage agreement (UGSA), according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Bergland said the CCC wants to buy U.S. No. 2 yellow corn or better with maximum 15 percent moisture content but would accept delivery of U.S. No. 3 yellow corn at a 5 cents per bushel discount.

Offers to sell corn under this invitation must be received no later than 5 p.m., EST, March 27 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Kansas City Commodity Office. Successful offers will be notified no later than 1 a.m., EST, March 31.

This second invitation, issued by CCC offering to buy corn following Bergland's Jan. 19 statement that up to nine million metric tons (about 350 million bushels) would be isolated from the market in order to support the market price of corn. CCC purchased 281,349 bushels of corn under the first purchase invitation issued Jan. 22.

17 apparent winners for Republican committeemen

Despite the large Republican turnout in Tuesday's primary election, ballots were cast for Republican precinct committeemen in only 10 of Granite City's 37 precincts.

Since several of the Republican committeemen votes were for write-in candidates who received only one vote, Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles will have to certify whether each is qualified to serve and willing to serve.

The largest vote-getters among the Granite City Republican precinct committeemen were Harold Stallings in the 26th precinct with 45 votes, George Slatery in the 24th precinct with 63 votes and Dale G. Hyle in the 12th precinct with 23 votes. All three were on the ballot.

The most successful write-in campaign for Republican precinct committeemen was launched in the 33rd precinct by Walter Emde, who collected 38 votes.

Others who were apparently elected to GOP committeemen posts by write-ins include Larry Ruder in the seventh precinct, two votes to one for Paul Lynn. John P. Huber had four write-in votes for the Republican committeemen post in the ninth precinct and Richard Mathenia is the apparent GOP winner in the 11th precinct with one write-in vote.

David M. House received one write-in vote for the committeemen post in precinct 14. Kent Holsinger received one vote in the 32nd precinct and Harold DuPont was successful in the 34th, tallying five write-in votes.

In other Quad-City area townships, seven received votes for precinct committeemen, even though there were candidates on the ballot in only three precincts.

Of those on the ballot for GOP committeemen, L. Michael Nance received 39 votes in Nameoki Township precinct four; Sherwin E. Martin tallied 52 votes in Nameoki 11, and Eric L. McDowell received 51 votes in Chouteau Township precinct seven, nearly equalling the 56 votes his Democratic

History of women is depicted

Judy Chicago will present a slide and lecture discussion about her "Dinner Party" March 27 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, but there will be no mention of table etiquette, wine choosing or menu planning.

An internationally-known feminist artist, she presents her "Dinner Party" as a sculptured, lifesize triangular banquet table with 39 place settings arranged chronologically to depict the history of women in western civilization from the beginning of time to the present.

Each setting, consisting of an elaborately carved ceramic or painted china plate, ceramic chalice, knife, fork, spoon, napkin and intricate needlework runner, reflects aspects of a historical woman's achievements.

Although the flatware at each setting is the same, the plate and runners were designed after intensive research by Judy Chicago and a team of assistants to relate to the life of the woman and the time period in which she lived.

Guests include Emily Dickinson, Susan B. Anthony, Georgia O'Keeffe, Sacajawea and Caroline Herschel, a late 18th Century English astronomer.

Her lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Meridian Ballroom of the University Center. Admission is free. However, due to limited seating, reservations must be made.

Reservations and more information may be obtained by calling 692-2996.

The event, sponsored by the Office of Cultural Arts and University Museums at SIUE, is the first in a "women the arts" lecture series during the spring quarter.

Philippians 1:29... "For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake."

Multitudes of folks in time of crisis have called on Christ for help. Multitudes have been helped, without a doubt. However, it seems that mistakenly, many are led to believe that after coming to the Lord for help there will be no more trials. Not so my friends. There will still be some hard times.

In order for you to master your situation, you must accept as a privilege suffering for His sake. All things work together for good to them who love God. It is up to you as to the outcome of any test or trial.

If you continue to serve God, to praise Him, and give thanks in all things, you may well hear Him say one day, "well done."

Trust Him. Today.

Artist, James Goodwin Scott, known as the "river man," conducted a workshop at the Central Christian Church for 20 area artists from Granite City, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Troy.

At noon everyone enjoyed a salad buffet served by the Christian Women's Fellowship of the church.

In the afternoon the workshop members painted in water color their impression of a set-up of flowers and greenery.

The Granite City Art Guild has tentative plans for more workshops in the future, according to the president, Mrs. Eva Meadows.

This program was partially funded by the Illinois Arts Council, she added.

Primary is over; 8 months to evaluate the nominees

As predicted, Tuesday's Illinois primary election may have gone a long way toward settling the presidential candidates. It is hard to see how anyone can stop President Jimmy Carter from being nominated by the Democrats, or Ronald Reagan from being chosen by the Republicans.

With both his domestic and foreign policies crashing down in failure after failure, the president may find voters denying him a second term. However, it is also easy to visualize a repeat of 1964, when the incumbent Democrat successfully painted the conservative Republican as too war-prone to be trusted with a finger on the nuclear trigger.

Voters made certain that the next U.S. senator from Illinois will be from Belleville. Democrat Alan Dixon and Republican Dave O'Neal captured the two nominations.

Robert Mays, probably the least qualified of all the Democratic appellate judge candidates, won out in the 37-county Southern Illinois district, prompting law Republicans to scramble about in search of a candidate of their own.

Highly qualified Moses Harrison and Andreas Matosios garnered a second appellate nomination and a circuit judge nomination, respectively. Intensely-fought Madison County races went to State's Attorney Nicholas Byron and Recorder of Deeds Ronald Lucas.

Voters in general favored continuity in public office, although there were several turnovers in Madison County Board membership.

It was a beautiful day, from the standpoint of the weather and the primary winners—and, of course, a miserable day for the losers. Eight long months remain to study the nominees before final choices are made in November.

Licensing of reporters by city sounds unconstitutional

One of the least impressive actions of the City Council of Granite City in its history is a license fee ordinance adopted last night.

Its seemingly mile-long list includes a $100 fee for newspapers and $25 charges for reporters, described as court and convention, television radio and newspaper.

At first glance, this would appear to infringe on constitutional guarantees against governmental regulation of freedom of the press and freedom of speech. Aldermen Baker, Bowler, Whitmer, Fisk, Schuman, Morlen, Modrusic, Bailey and Douglas were recorded as voting for the measure. We hope they take another look at what they've done before somebody hauls them into court.

Our objection sounds self-serving but is not centered primarily on the money. The concept of a city regulating the news media, through fee levels or other methods, is distasteful and ought to be abandoned.

On a broader range, the listing of various firms and individuals to be licensed seems oppressive in its enormity. If fully enforced, such an ordinance would keep inspection departments and court staffs busy around the clock and rapidly expanding in size.

Study possible budget cuts by city

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

Concerned about probable losses of federal revenue sharing income because of President Carter's anti-inflation program, Granite City officials are to meet Friday to discuss what they can do to counter the prospective blow.

Paul R. Bowler, Seventh Ward alderman and chairman of the City Council's Finance committee, said he has asked the city auditor to study the city's 1980-81 budget for possible revenue sharing losses if and when they come.

The committee chairmen are to meet with Bowler and other members of the Finance committee, Aldermen Fred

"Pat" Schuman Jr., and Warren Decatur, at 4 p.m. Friday in the mayor's conference room on the third floor of the city hall.

The meeting was called, Bowler said, when it became obvious in the President's austerity program that severe cuts in federal revenue sharing receipts are likely, although the exact amount is not yet known at the local level. Federal officials have said, however, that cutbacks to the states, which in turn proportion the revenue to cities, will run into the millions of dollars.

City officials have been working on the city's 1980-81 budget for the past month and all department heads have submitted estimates of their budget needs.

Cardinals' Roy Green will speak

Football Cardinals defensive back Roy Green, who was picked as the fourth round draft choice in 1979, will be the featured speaker at the second regular monthly Men's Ministry breakfast to be held at 8 a.m. Saturday, March 22, at Tri-City Tabernacle, 3400 Maryville Road, according to the Rev. Dr. Thurance York, pastor.

This past season, wearing Cardinal jersey 25, he made 41 kickoff returns for a total of 1,007 yards. The longest of these returns was for 106 yards against the Dallas Cowboys at Dallas, Texas, for a touchdown.

Green, 22, is from Mariopol, 56 km. north of St. Louis, where he still resides in the off-season. He was chosen all-American defensive back in 1978 while attending Henderson State College in Arkadelphia, Ark., the minister noted.

The breakfast is open to the community. Reservations are not needed and there will be no charge. Dr. York is urging young men aged 18 and over to attend. A question and answer period will follow the meeting.

Durnell tallied 3,960 in Madison County and 2,368 in St. Clair County. Drenovac's tally was 3,159 in Madison County and 661 in St. Clair County.

The Madison County portion of the 23rd Congressional District is made up of Granite City, Nameeki, Chouteau, Venice, Wood River, Fort Russell, Edwardsville, Collinsville,

Carter, Reagan sweep Illinois

Tuesday's Illinois primary was considered a crucial contest for several presidential candidates and President Jimmy Carter and Republican Ronald Reagan made substantial gains in their hopes for nomination.

With nearly all precincts counted (about 98 percent), President Carter received 68 percent of the popular vote for the Democratic nomination, with 756,575 votes. Edward Kennedy received 348,200, or 30 percent of the vote, followed in the Democratic race by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., with 38,890.

Reagan led the Republicans with about the percent of the vote. He received 528,874 votes, followed by John Anderson at 402,838 (about 37 percent), George Bush 292,123 (26 percent) and Phil Crane 24,132 (two percent).

In the race for delegates to the national nominating conventions, where the candidates for each party are selected, Pres. Carter gained about 165 delegates to 14 for Kennedy. Reagan received about 42 delegates, Anderson 24, Crane four and Bush, two. GOP voters also selected about 20 uncommitted delegates statewide.

Attorney General William Scott was dealt a double blow this week. A jury in Chicago found him guilty of tax evasion Wednesday and sales tallies showed he lost the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate to Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal.

With about 91 percent of the votes tallied, O'Neal had 376,451 votes, or 316,743 for Carter. Former Mayor Richard Carver tallied 219,559.

O'Neal will face Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon in the November general election. Both are from Belleville.

With 90 percent of the vote counted, Democrat Scott received 605,518 votes, or about 67 percent of the total vote for five candidates. Alex Seith followed with 19 percent.

Price, Davinroy district winners

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

Cong. Melvin Price, seeking his 19th consecutive two-year term in Congress, won the Democratic nomination by a vote of more than six to one over his nearest opponent during Tuesday's primary election.

Price received a total of 40,773 votes in the 11 townships of Madison County and all 22 townships of St. Clair County which make up the 23rd District.

On the Republican ballot, the nomination for congressman in the 23rd district went to Ronald Davinroy, who tallied 9,794 votes in the two counties.

The two will be opponents in the general election in November 1980.

Cong. Price defeated Victor Baulch, who polled 6,328 votes, and Sam Drenovac, who received 3,820 in the two counties. Davinroy defeated Phil Montalvo, who garnered 8,373 votes.

Durnell tallied 3,960 in Madison County and 2,368 in St. Clair County. Drenovac's tally was 3,159 in Madison County and 661 in St. Clair County.

Arrested on City licenses news reporters

Jerry Lee McCabe, 26, of the 3900 block of Central Ave., Mitchell, who was released from custody earlier this month after a jury found him innocent of rape and armed violence, was arrested again early yesterday by Belleville police.

It is alleged he impersonated a police officer and ordered an 8-year-old boy to get into his car. The boy refused and the driver left the vehicle and began to gather in the vicinity, it is being alleged.

A description of the vehicle was given to Belleville officers, who stopped McCabe's auto nearby. Officers alleged finding an open bottle had been a small amount of marijuana.

McCabe was charged in misdemeanor complaints with impersonating a police officer and with possession of marijuana. He was still being held this morning in the Belleville holdover facility, officers said.

AUTO IS DAMAGED

The auto of Granite City School Board member David Partney was damaged while parked at 19th and Adams streets near the intersection of 19th and Adams streets at 5:05 p.m. Tuesday. The rear window was broken and the right rear panel and right side of the 1979 Cadillac were dented.

Puppeteers to visit Central Methodist

"His Way Puppeteers," a share team from Central College, McPherson Kan., will be at the Central Free Methodist Church located at Lake and South Streets, Pontoon Beach, presenting the message of Christ through the ministry of puppets and personal witness on Sunday, March 23, services at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m., according to the Rev. H. R. Schuetz, host pastor.

On the Republican ballot, the nomination for state representatives in the 56th Legislative District was taken out to election since there is no opposition to those three candidates—unless the Republican congressional committee names a second candidate, or unless there is a write-in nominee.

Unofficial results in the 6th district, not including the general election in November 1980, gave incumbent State Rep. Sam Wolf a total of 26,925 votes, and incumbent Rep. McPike 24,804 votes, both on the Democratic ballot, and incumbent Representative Everett Steele 22,286 votes on the Republican ballot.

Madison St. Clair counties breakdown shows Wolf with 24,400 and 2,032, McPike with 22,771 and 2,032, and Steele with 20,014 and 2,272.

The 56th district in St. Clair County is made up of 14 precincts in Canteen Township.

St. Horace Calvo was leading in the bi-county vote tallies for the Democratic nomination of a Fifth District Appellate Court Justice to fill a vacancy created by the retirement of Judge Edward Eberspacher, that district court judge had applied at which voting results were not tallied completely Wednesday.

In Madison and St. Clair Counties, excepting the missing Alton precinct, Calvo polled a total of 16,195 votes, 14,971 of them in Madison County and 1,224 in St. Clair County.

His nearest opponent in the combined vote of the two counties was Robert Mays, who received 4,026 votes in Madison County and 7,822 votes in St. Clair County for a total of 11,848.

Paul Walker tallied 1,971 votes in the appellate judge vote in Madison County and 9,668 in St. Clair County for a total of 11,659. Ronald Niemann received 5,667, including 3,278 in Madison County and 2,389 in St. Clair County.

In separate balloting to nominate a candidate for an Appellate Court vacancy because of the retirement of George J. Moran, Democrat Moses W. Harrison polled 32,243 votes, made up of 20,631 votes in Madison County and 12,251 in St. Clair County. Harrison had no opponent.

There were no candidates on the Republican ballot for either of the Appellate Court vacancies.

Await sale of mansion

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has completed authorization to its executive committee to approve a contract of sale for the Olin mansion in Fairmount, Godfrey. The home was given to SIUE at Edwardsville, by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Olin in 1975.

The authorization does not refer to a specific contract of sale.

Negotiations have progressed to the point where expeditious action may be required to bind a sales contract in the near future, the board was told.

The action delegates authority to any two members of the executive committee to authorize the execution of a contract of sale by the SIUE president, and the execution of a real estate deed to the buyer by the chairman or vice-chairman of the board.

To assure a clear title for the property for the purchase, the action of the members of the executive committee would be ratified by the full board at its next meeting.

The university announced plans in August 1978 to sell the mansion and the 32-acre tract on which it is located, overlooking the Mississippi River north of Alton. The home and estate were given to SIUE by the Olin's in May 1975 with the stipulation that the facilities would be used exclusively for charitable, cultural, scientific, literary and educational purposes.

The decision to sell the property was made after the university decided it would be unrealistic to proceed with development of the cultural center in view of the state's stringent financial situation and the estimated cost of renovating the facilities.

Use of the property had been suspended in May 1977 when the university agreed with Fairmount residents not to use the mansion as a conference site pending the outcome of a suit for injunction and the university's subsequent appeal.

The injunction restrained the university from using the property for anything except a residence, based on a Fairmount subdivision covenant adopted in the 1920s, stipulating that land in Fairmount was to be used for residential purposes only.

Mrs. Schoen announced that the chapter's yearbook had won several ribbons in state and national judging. The yearbook received the tri-color ribbon for outstanding yearbook from the national program committee and blue ribbons for conservation of funds in its preparation and for the use of the national theme in the program titles. The chapter received a second-place certificate for the most members reinstated during the past year, Mrs. Schoen noted.

The good citizens from Granite City South and North—Philip Beljanski and Raquel Cuevas, both attended the convention's Good Citizen luncheon along with their parents.

Special recognition was accorded to eight members who have been DAR members for over 25 years. Mrs. Louis Buenger was a charter member of the Drusilla Andrews Chapter and has been a member for 57 years.

Accurate census essential for sound policy decisions

Data gathered in the 1980 census will be vitally important to regional policy decisions in the years ahead, Earl Lazerson, acting president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, emphasized Tuesday.

In a welcome to the 1980 Census Users Conference on campus, Lazerson said, "The importance of effective census data utilization cannot be overestimated. Your efforts may well be instrumental in forming the statistical foundation by which many of our public and private institutions confront an era of intense budget scrutiny."

The conference was cosponsored by the university's Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CUESRS), the Regional Commerce and Growth

Association, St. Louis chapter of the American Statistical Association, Center for Urban Programs at St. Louis University, East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, and St. Louis Metropolitan Census Committee.

Discussions were held on changes in the 1980 census and various census products, data and services which will be available to the public. Lazerson said SUE is committed to facilitating utilization of census data for individuals and organizations in this region, and an indication of this commitment is the university's involvement in the development of the Southern Illinois Census Data Program and the Illinois State Data Center Cooperative. The acting president also pointed out that Lovejoy Library is designated as a federal depository library and maintains a collection of printed census materials. In addition, he said CUESRS has "an outstanding record of responding to requests for census information from private and public organizations."

CUESRS also has sponsored numerous conferences and workshops related to census data and its applications.

"Public service activities will continue to be an integral part of our overall mission."

"SUE is committed to offering cultural, advisory and consultative sources to the citizenry, as well as to public and private organizations, with the purpose of bringing professional expertise and results of research to bear upon local and regional problems.

"We will continue to devote appropriate resources to public service concerns, and attempt to provide the leadership necessary for effective solutions to regional issues and problems."

FATALITIES HIGHER

According to the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Illinois State Police, there were 100 traffic fatalities in February, an increase of 4.2 percent over February 1979 figures. In the first two months of 1980, there were 227 traffic deaths, up 35 percent from the 168 in the same period of 1979.

Vote OK'd for fund transfer

A resolution asking Regional School Superintendent Harold E. Briggs to authorize a special referendum in Venice School District 3 on a proposal to transfer school funds was approved by the Venice School Board in a regular meeting Monday night.

Venice School Superintendent Robert Vickers said the referendum proposal involves the transfer of $154,000 from the special education building fund to the regular school building fund. The referendum on the transfer proposal is required under a legislative House bill approved last year.

The referendum will be held April 12 in conjunction with the regular election of school board members, Vickers said. There is no tax involved in the transfer plan.

The board also authorized two half-day in-service sessions for teachers on April 10 and April 18.

Resignation of Mrs. Anna Spencer, principal of the Venice elementary school, was accepted. Mrs. Spencer has been employed in the Venice School system 31 years, 11 of them as principal. The resignation will become effective at the end of the present school year.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Connie Clayton, a special education instructor, effective at the end of the school year. She has been with the district 11 years.

It was up for grabs

CHAMPAIGN — A hair-raising experience, the small school state basketball tournament.

Since 1972, the Illinois High School Association has conducted two separate state basketball tournaments. One for the small schools (750 enrollment or less) and one for the big schools a week later. Both are in the University of Illinois' gigantic Assembly Hall, which holds around 16,000 spectators, in many cases, twice as many people as there are living in the communities of the small schools.

One would tend to think that the Class AA (large school) tournament would attract many more fans than the smaller school. But that's not true.

This season, the small guys attracted a large crowd. The big guys will too. But last weekend at the Assembly Hall, no one was aware that there is a bigger tournament anywhere. This was their tournament.

Madison's Trojans were a part of the small school state finals for the second straight year. This season, they went into the meet ranked fifth in the state.

They finished fourth. Madison came out on top in its first game against Timothy Christian of Chicago, but then lost to eventual runnerup Peoria Bergan in a close semifinal game.

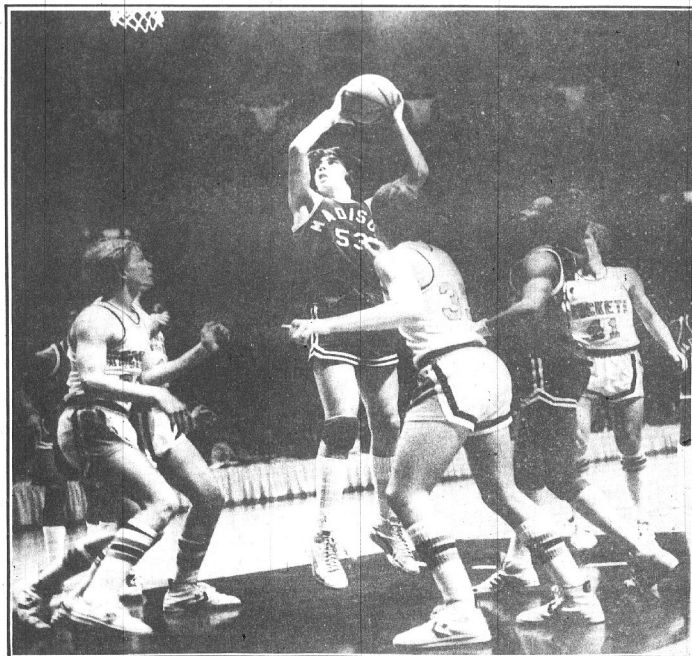

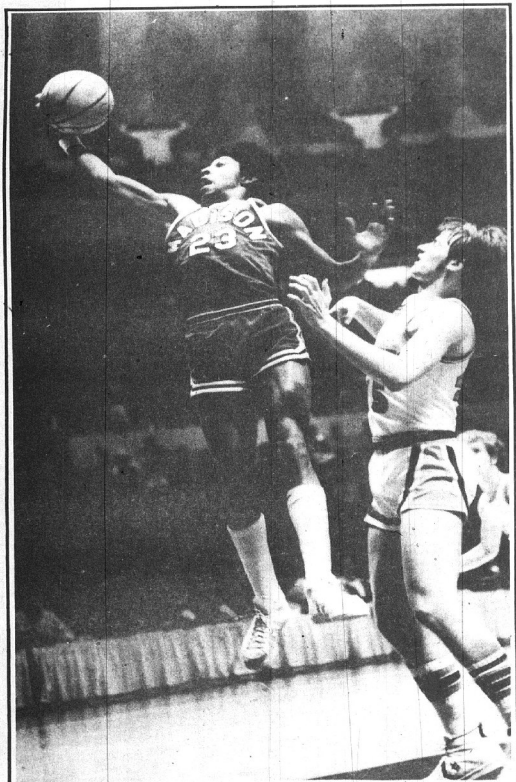

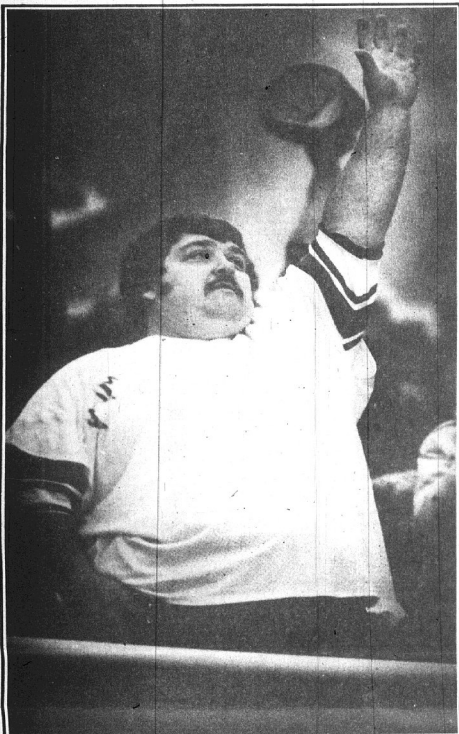

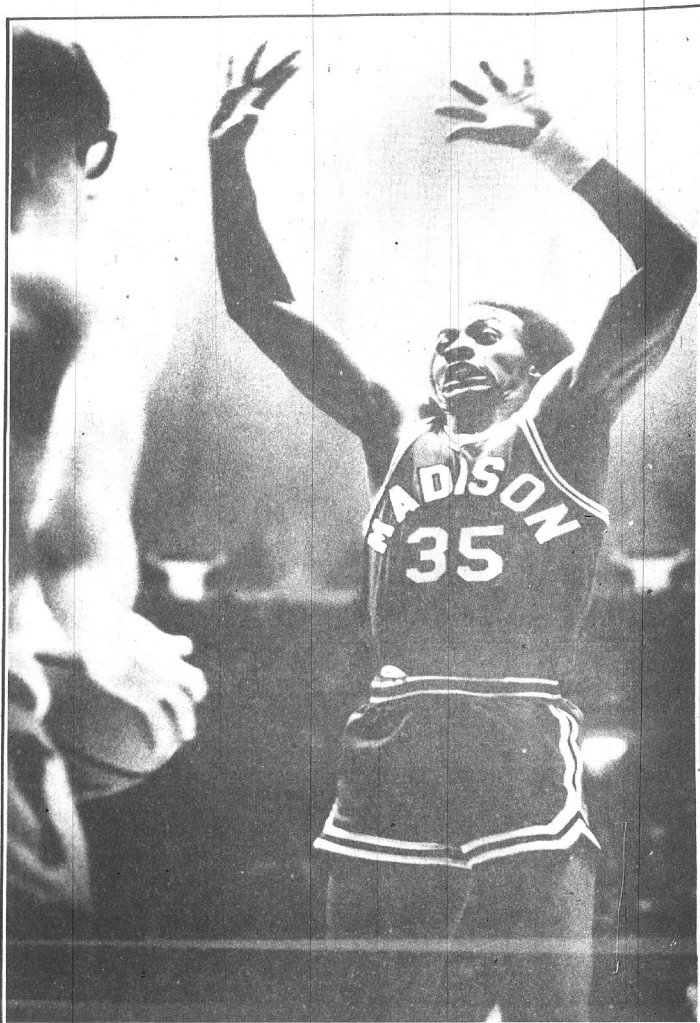

In the game for third place against Okawville, Madison could probably have won if it had played its regulars the entire game.

But Trojan coach Larry Graham chose not to. He instead went mainly with the players who had worked hard all season but had not gotten to play much. He felt he owed it to those players to let them take the floor at the Assembly Hall and get in some time.

It was a decision that took courage to make. Some fans criticized Graham for it, but he stuck by his guns.

Okawville came out on top in the third-place game, but Madison fans have a bright future to look forward to. And a little experience at the Assembly Hall for those players coming back.

Effingham dunks Lincoln

GRANITE CITY (Ill.) PRESS-RECORD, Thursday, March 20, 1980—21

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
CARBONDALE — How time flies. Just a year ago, Effingham coach Jim Maxedon was standing in the same hallway outside the dressing rooms in the catacombs of the SIU Arena in Carbondale following his team's loss to East St. Louis in the Class AA Super-Sectional. He talked about his team's inability to cope with East Side's height advantage as one of the main reasons for losing.

Tuesday the roles were reversed. It was a victorious Maxedon who spoke about a height advantage.

Effingham's. And it was East St. Louis Lincoln coach Bennie Lewis who talked about his team's inability to deal with it following Effingham's 74-58 Super-Sectional victory.

The victory for Effingham (27-1) means the Flaming Hearts will go to the Class AA "Elite Eight" Friday at the University of Illinois

Assembly Hall in Champaign. Their quarterfinal opponent will be Chicago DeLaSalle, which defeated Conant in the Aurora East Super-Sectional after knocking off top-ranked Provia East in the Hinsdale Sectional.

The difference between this season's Effingham team and last season's is "a couple of inches and a 72" man in the center," according to Maxedon. "Most of our players grew a couple of inches from last season," he said. "Plus having a 72" center doesn't hurt."

Most of the damage was done to Lincoln by 6'5" guard-forward Mitch Arnold and 72" German exchange student Uwe Blab. Arnold, who has already announced his intentions to play at the University of Illinois next season, scored a game-high 31 points. His tall teammate from West Germany scored 29 points, including 12 of 12 shots from the field (five dunks).

"This has to be one of Uwe's best games of the season," said Maxedon. "When he came over here, he was a green ball player. But now, he's like a seasoned veteran. He's played before packed houses all season and he did so tonight. The pressure doesn't seem to get to him."

Pressure. Lincoln has made that its trademark all season, enroute to a 24-1 record entering Tuesday's game. The Tigers' press has caused more than one team to wilt under it.

But not Effingham. The Flaming Hearts didn't have a single turnover against Lincoln's press and handled it with ease.

Playing before a crowd of over 9,000 (most of which were decked out in Flaming Heart red), Effingham looked like a team that was a purpose. "They weren't content to just make it to Carbondale this time," said an Effingham fan. "They want to go to Champaign. The game did have its tense moments. Like when Lincoln's Edward Wilson made a 45-foot jumper at the buzzer, ending the third quarter that brought the Tigers within four, 45-41. Or when Todd Porter made a 12-footer from the baseline at the beginning of the fourth quarter bringing Lincoln within two, Effingham called timeout."

"We started shutting off their penetration after that," said Maxedon. The Hearts scored eight straight points. Lincoln coach Bennie Lewis thought his team's fate was in its own hands. "We had the shots," he said. "They were there. But time after time, they wouldn't go in. They just weren't falling in for us tonight." Aply put. The Tigers shot a frigid 25 of 61 from the field (38 percent). Effingham was 30 of 54 (56 percent).

TODD PORTER of East St. Louis Lincoln goes up for a layup Tuesday against Effingham at the Carbondale Super-Sectional.

RICK SLAUGHTER (24) of East St. Louis Lincoln drives against Effingham's Brad Neet Tuesday night in the Carbondale Class AA Super-Sectional at the SIU Arena. Slaughter scored 12 points, but his team's hopes of a trip to the "Elite Eight" in Champaign were dashed by the Flaming Hearts, 74-58.

Greenville tops Trojanettes

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
STAUNTON — It was Baby Doll against the Incredible Hulk here Tuesday night when the Madison girls met Greenville in the opening round of the Staunton Sectional tournament. Madison's Veronica Williams — better known as Baby Doll — paired off against Greenville's hulking Lisa Perry, who doubles as a shot putter during track season.

The result, well, Perry stopped Williams and the rest of the Trojanettes cold, as Greenville rolled to a 57-48 win.

"She (Perry) was just beating Baby Doll to death," Carol Stearns, Madison's coach said. "But we knew she was big, and we knew they were quick. We knew what we had to do. We just didn't do it." Perry contributed a game-high 20 points for Greenville as she battled — and usually won — underneath the basket with Williams. On the other end of the court the formidable center was even more intimidating as she held Williams, Madison's most consistent scorer, to only 10 points.

But Perry wasn't the only weapon in the Greenville arsenal. Forward Lori O'Bryan raced the length of the court during the second half, and attacked the baseline with a vengeance. She ended the night with 18 points.

Then there was the Comet's quick little guard, Val Morgan, who popped from the perimeter and added still 17 more points for Greenville. "They're good," Stearns conceded. "They handle the ball well, they execute, and most of all they're patient. You could hear their coach yelling during the game to be patient and work the ball. I'm over here yelling the same thing, but we couldn't get anything going."

Control was the difference in the game. Greenville had it. Madison didn't. In the first three minutes, Madison lost the ball three times to the Comets. Still the Trojanettes remained close through most of the first quarter. It was 14-10 at the buzzer.

When the Trojanettes did manage to get the ball past the tough Greenville defense, they found the middle, with Perry standing guard, shut off. Madison had to rely on outside shooting to try to stay close. That, however, wasn't enough. With Williams neutralized underneath, Greenville began to pull away. By the half the Comets led 22-16.

"We've never played in front of a crowd like this," said Maxedon. "We're used to being able to talk to each other and hear everything that's going on. But tonight with the noise combined with the excitement of the tournament... we were scared to death."

In the second half all that really showed. The Trojanettes needed to come out and score quickly to cut the Comet's lead. But the momentum was in Greenville's favor, what with the large and boisterous contingent of fans from the nearby town. Madison wilted as the Comets put 4n 10 straight points to open the half before the Trojan first scored. It was 41-26 leading to the fourth quarter.

The Trojanettes made a run in the final period, as Nancy Mikolasyuk hit a string of short jump shots. But Mikolasyuk's hot hand, which gave Madison nine points in all, wasn't enough. Madison cut the lead to 55-48 with eight seconds left but that was as close as the score got. The Trojan season ended with a nine point loss.

And Stearns, like any good coach, was saying wait till next year before the gym cleared. "The thing is, we've been here now," she said. "Next year, we'll lose one or two starters but we should have younger people to come in and fill their shoes. Hopefully we'll get past this point next year."

SECTIONAL ACTION. Madison's Traci Parker (10) puts up a shot Tuesday at Staunton against Greenville in Class A Sectional play.

MADISON COACH JOHN PASKUS (L), CATCHER ED BURNS (C) AND ASSISTANT COACH RON CRADER.

Baseball '80 ...

Paskus hopes for best

By TOM SCHOCKER
for the Press-Record
MADISON — The eyes of sports enthusiasts are still glued impatiently to basketball tournament competition, but outside the crowd-packed and noisy gyms, the players of baseball are losing the kinks of winter solitude.

With the ground still moisture-soaked, the spring sport season is well into its practice schedule, and for one of the area's baseball teams, the Madison Trojans, the road to success for the 1980 year might be long and hard.

"We don't even have enough people out for the team yet," said Madison head baseball coach John Paskus. "In fact, two of our best ball players transferred out. Their families just moved and that is going to put a big crimp in our plans."

Coach Paskus is facing a situation that is all too familiar in his coaching profession. "Last year we started out as unsure as we are this season," said Paskus. "Although only chalking up four triumphs last year, the Trojans, according to Paskus, made a good showing in the regional tournament. "We had a good regional," said Paskus. "Despite losing 2-1, we had a good time together the entire year."

Youth will comprise the balance for the 1980 Trojan squad. "Our team is really young," said Paskus. "We have only two seniors, four juniors and the rest are sophomores and freshmen. With all these young people, we are as yet unproven and I couldn't even give a prediction as to our year."

A senior, one junior and a sophomore will have to give Coach Paskus the needed experience the Trojans are looking for. Senior Ed Burns, a catcher and occasional pitcher and junior shortstop Ed Forister both had good seasons last year according to Paskus. Sophomore Ken Briggs will provide the pitching duties. "Briggs is a strong pitcher," said Paskus. "It's good when he is right. He can also play catcher and the outfield. ..."

The greenness of the Madison lineup will be surely put to the test during the course of the season. The Class A institution will have a number of larger schools on its 17-game schedule which will include state qualifier Granite City North, East St. Louis and Roxana. "With our team we don't need to play bigger schools," said Paskus. "It's just too tough for us. All we can hope for is the best."

Motorcycle cowboy nearly gives coach 'Heart' attack

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

CARBONDALE — Effingham's flaming heart basketball coach Jim Maxedon nearly got the shock of his life Sunday afternoon.

He was taping the ankles of his all-state guard Mitch Arnold before practice when he noticed several bumps and bruises all over his legs. "I asked him, 'What in the world happened to you?'" said Maxedon. "Then he told me."

What Arnold told him was that he had been in a motorcycle accident the day before. Not your usual 18-year old kid showing off for the girls motorcycle accident. No, actually the boy was rounding up cows.

"Mitch is a farm boy," said Maxedon. "He got on his bike Saturday to go round up cows and had an accident."

What was Maxedon's reaction? "Well, let's put it this way," he said following his team's victory over East St. Louis Lincoln in the Carbondale Super-Sectional Tuesday. "It won't happen again."

But even though Arnold is an all-star and one of the best players to come out of area high school ranks in recent years, he isn't the whole team. The Flaming Hearts can beat you more than one way.

They can beat you outside with Arnold popping in 25-footers. Or they can beat you inside with The Blab.

The Blab. A 7'2" German foreign exchange student named Uwe (pronounced Oo-ay Blob) Blab. The junior center had grown an inch and a half since coming to this country late last summer as a Rotary Club exchange student. But he's grown in more than size. He's learned to play the American game. He scored 29 points (including five slam-dunks) against Lincoln Tuesday in Effingham's 74-58 victory at the SIU Arena. He was 12 for 12 from the floor.

The fans have fallen in love with the lanky 17-year old German. When he lines up for a jump-ball, the excited-Hearts fans scream, "Oo-ay! Oo-ay! Oo-ay!"

When Blab dunks the ball with ease, hardly rising off the floor, it's more of the same.

"Oo-ay! Oo-ay! Oo-ay!"

Suddenly, a Lincoln player appears free for a short jumper. Blab appears from nowhere and blocks the shot.

"Oo-ay! Oo-ay! Oo-ay!"

Maxedon needed a strong inside player to make the trip to the State Finals. After losing to East St. Louis in the Super-Sectional last season, he knew it. He got one.

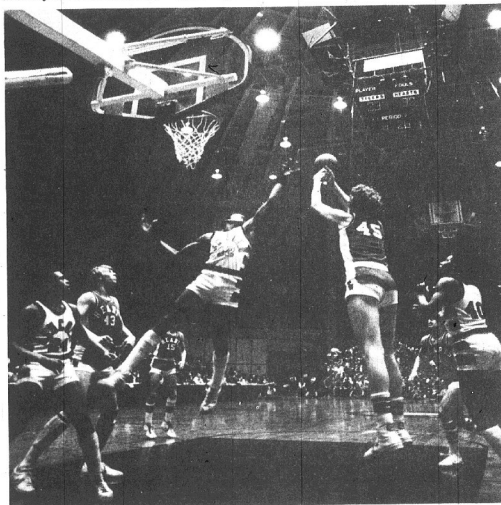

"I know we would have been a very good team without him (Blab)," said Maxedon. "But I don't know if we'd have won tonight without him."

The Effingham fans have gone berserk over this team. Just like they did in 1967 when current Granite City South coach Don Deterding took a team of sophomores to the "Sweet Sixteen." Or in 1968 when Maxedon took the squad he had inherited from Deterding to the "Elite Eight."

The Flaming Hearts aren't the only basketball players in Effingham. The St. Anthony High School Bulldogs have gone to the "Elite Eight" as recently as two seasons ago in Class A.

But this is the main attraction. The Hearts. A sea of red in the stands faces any opposing team. Everyone from Effingham wears something red. Maxedon takes it stride.

"I wish I had the T-shirt concession in Effingham," he said. "I wouldn't have to coach next year to make a living."

SUPER ACTION. Effingham's Uwe Blab (45) and Tyrone Jackson of East St. Louis Lincoln go for a rebound during third quarter action at the Carbondale Super-Sectional Tuesday.

Illinois' place-winners were Dave Harris and Dan Hemmer of Belleville West. Harris won his match, but Hemmer was defeated.

"The Granite City guys had an outstanding night," said North coach Walt Whitaker, who also watched the meet. "To have four local wrestlers on the team and each one win isn't bad."

'That Scotty's tough'

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY —
Paul Parker leaned over from where he was sitting in the dank, sweaty basement and said, "I think the hardest thing in the world for a father is to sit here and watch his son box."

At that moment out on the concrete floor of the makeshift gym eight-year-old Scotty Parker had backed his opponent into a corner and was driving hard little punches into his midsection.
"Work hard," the elder Parker called out before coach Mercie Mendoza called for a break. And everyone around the basement of the Lincoln Place Community Center smiled.

This was a work out of the newly formed Granite City Boxing Club. Mendoza and others began to work out in the club back in October, and despite having trouble finding a permanent home, the club seems to be huffing and puffing along quite nicely.

At least if Scotty
Parker is any indication, the club seems to be thriving.

Scotty is a 50-pound package of firm muscle
and gritty determination.
When folks at the Community Center see the kind of effort he puts forth and watch as whips around the big overstuffed gloves, they get a kind of satisfied grin on their face.

And you know then they are thinking, "Just wait until he's 15. He's gonna be something."

In his gray sweat suit pulled up tight around his face, Scotty looks harmless enough. But when he dons the headgear and strips off the warm-up jacket and ties on the gloves, look out.

His wiry little body has already the beginnings of well-defined muscle.

"I told him," Paul Parker said. "That if he wanted to come down here and work hard and not play I'd bring him any time. And boy, I've never seen a kid work so hard.
He's done 500 jumps at a time before. And I've seen him run six miles on a weekend before he come to work out."

It shows. During one sparring session recently, Scotty boxed a one-minute round with a bigger, older opponent and clearly had the upper hand.

Then as the first sparring partner went to the bench to regain his breath, Scotty went another round. Again he sent the bigger opponent away out of breath. And finally the first boy went another round.

"That Scotty," the first opponent said between grips for air. "He's tough."

Scotty has yet to fight in any organized competition. He sparred at Belleville recently when the Granite City club faced a similar club from Belleville.

But it should only be a matter of time before more meets come the club's way.

"We hoped to hold our own meet at the end of the season," Mendoza said.
"But it doesn't look like we're going to be able to.
We just bought a ring, but we really don't have any place to put it. The park let us use this place, but we already need more space."

Yeah, put in the paper that anyone who has a place for us to contact us," Archie Lupardus, whose son also boxes in the club, said.

For the somewhat limited facilities of the club, though, already some successes have spurred its growth.

Not the least of which was Danny Mendoza's

SCOTTY PARKER

success in the Golden Gloves competition in St.
Louis recently.

Mendoza won the crown in the 165-pound novice division, after little over a year of boxing.

Then there was Randy Gibson who recorded the only win for Granite City in its meet against Belleville.

Mendoza sees even more improvement ahead. "When we start working out in a warehouse at the Army Depot, but it wasn't heated so when it got cold
we had to find somewhere else to go."

"We had 112 kids with us when we began but when it started to get cold a lot dropped out. Now we're down to about 15, but they're all dedicated."

"They had to be just to stick with it through the cold weather."

Then, of course, there's Scotty. Just watching the time and effort the quiet little boxer puts in at the club is enough to pump enthusiasm through any coach.

"I asked him after he had sparred with one kid why he didn't guard his face better," Paul Parker said. "He said it didn't hurt when the kid hit him on the forehead so he didn't do anything to stop him."

"His mom is behind him all the way. At first she said she didn't want to see him with a flat nose, but now she's really into it."

Between rounds with a heavy punching bag, Scotty's close-cropped hair glistened. He couldn't stop moving even though he'd finished a work-out that would faze the unaccustomed.

All that work behind him, Scotty finally calmed down to answer a question. Why do you work on this so hard?

"I like it," he said.
"And I want to win me
one of those trophies."

You can't help but think, "Just wait until he's 15 years old. He's gonna be something."

Girls 'AA' Sectional here ...

Lincoln whips Alton

GRANITE CITY —
Nothing more need be said than the score. The powerful East St. Louis Lincoln girls basketball team extended its unbeaten streak to 26 games, chalking up a 91-40 victory over Alton in the Granite City South Class AA Sectional Tournament Tuesday.

The win advances the Tigerettes into the championship game against Jacksonville (21-2) Thursday.

It took the Redwings of Alton a little over four minutes before they could defeat the defense of Lincoln and mark their first score.

But the damage was already done, as Lincoln had built a point difference. The lone bucket was the only digit to be recorded for Alton in the first eight minutes as the Tigerettes pulled into a 16 point lead and complete control of the contest.

"It took a big effort for the girls to play tonight," said Alton's head coach Mary Bowling. "The last time
these two teams played, Lincoln put 108 points on the board compared to our 36."

Coasting to the easy win, Lincoln's efforts were helped by Alton's mishandling play of the ball. Committing 31 turnovers, the Redwings were plagued by the cat-like speed of the Tigerettes. "The kids' nervousness in the game was evident," said Bowling. "I think turnovers was a very important factor in the game. We didn't play our best game. The kids put out what they could. Lincoln

just has good teamwork."

Teamwork was an appropriate word as the Tigerettes placed four girls in double figures and 10 of 12 players in the scorebook.

"We had a fine team effort," said Riggins. "I told them that these two teams played and play hard, but if we lose, Lincoln will have lost and if we win, Lincoln wins."

Lincoln's remarkable winning streak will be put to the test as they will be pitted against a very formidable foe in the Jacksonville Crimsons. Having defeated Jacksonville earlier in the season, Lincoln coach Ernest Riggins' thoughts on the upcoming contest were optimistic. "I think we will play much better against Jacksonville here at Granite

City," said Riggins. "much better than at Jacksonville.
Our defense will tell the story. The defense will make the offense. They have a patient ball club and a outstanding player in Francine Blackburn, but it will take a team effort to beat us."

The Crimsons earned the right to meet Lincoln by beating Springfield
Southeast 80-73 in overtime
Monday. Led by Blackburn's 26 points, Jacksonville had to rely on some last minute heroics to pull out the victory.

Down by two points with just 48 seconds remaining in the contest, Crimsons go to baseline jumper to knot the score at 68. A Blackburn steal and lay-up with 11 seconds left gave Jacksonville the lead, but a costly foul allowed Springfield the chance to send the game into OT. The charge fouls were converted and the game was forced to play an extra three minutes. Scoring a 10-3 count in the extra frame, the Crimsons set up a confrontation with Lincoln that should prove to be a classic battle. The Crimsons dropped the first game 77-46.

It's hard to keep a good man down, former GC teacher proves Confession now taken seriously

By EDGURNEY

Bill Snedecor is living proof that you can't keep a good man down.

It's not unusual that he had cancer and had to have his larynx removed. It isn't even unusual that he is considered cured, five years after the surgery.

What is noteworthy is that he didn't let this condition prevent him from returning to teaching at Frohardt School and to his position on the Collinsville Board of Education. Perhaps it can be explained by his outlook on life.

"Through the whole thing, I have had a great faith in God," said the 59-year-old Collinsville resident. "I didn't feel the need for alcohol or drugs. I didn't have the feeling of not being wanted."

Snedecor's ordeal began in October, 1974. A two to three pack-a-day smoker, he went to the doctor because his voice was hoarse and weak. He learned he had cancer.

He took a series of 31 radiation treatments in November and December, 1974. Tests the following April indicated the cancer was apparently gone.

But it wasn't. He soon got sick and began losing weight. He was determined to finish the 1974-75 school year in his job as sixth grade teacher at Frohardt, and did.

In June, he went into Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. Surgery was ordered. From choking to death, doctors removed his larynx, which is a part of the respiratory passage in the throat, between the back of the tongue and the trachea, or windpipe.

The larynx is sometimes called the voice box, because it contains the vocal cords. His trachea was redirected. A permanent opening was made in the lower front part of the neck to enable him to breathe.

Snedecor remembers what happened after surgery. "When I woke up, there was no voice. Nothing," he said.

For the time being, a professor of speech pathology and audiology at SIUE, Ann Carey had told Snedecor before the operation that he could learn a new form of speech.

Two weeks after he completed his 17-day stay at Barnes, Snedecor came to SIUE's Speech-Language and Hearing Center to learn what is called esophageal speech.

Carey explained that to use esophageal speech, a person uses his tongue to force a bubble of air into the esophagus in a "swallow-like" action. The air is brought back up and sound is made from the vibrations of the muscle around the esophagus.

Esophageal speech is not easy, but Snedecor "learned very quickly," said Carey. "He was very interested," she said. "He was a very verbal person and highly motivated to talk again."

SIUE students, under Carey's supervision, taught Snedecor almost daily during the last half of 1975. He returned to the job he loved — teaching elementary school children — in the second semester of the 1975-76 school year.

Teaching elementary students has been his love since he worked for Collinsville Unit 10 in the mid-1950s. Snedecor had been a secondary school teacher when he moved to Collinsville.

Students at Frohardt School, who Snedecor had not taught yet, wrote him letters imploring him to "hurry up and come," he said. He started at Frohardt in 1967.

Lee Reid, principal at Frohardt for 14 years before retiring last spring, said Snedecor had had "a good rapport" with his students.

After the surgery, Snedecor's esophageal speech was difficult for some to understand. But not his kids.

"They were able to catch it in a week and never had any trouble," Snedecor recalls. Said Reid, "He had difficulty communicating with adults more than with the kids."

For several weeks he used a microphone and speaker at school and in board meetings to amplify his soft esophageal speech, but he didn't like it.

"They (the students) respected me enough to know I couldn't speak loud," Snedecor said. "My room was always quiet for that reason."

His speech lessons at SIUE continued for a total of 18 months. His skill in using esophageal speech, however, was limited. At board meetings, someone, usually board president Tom Jenkins, would repeat to the audience what Snedecor said.

"My mistake, according to Dr. Carey, was that I started teaching too soon and developed bad habits," Snedecor said. "I wanted volume and I would forsake other things for it."

His difficulty in communicating had what his wife, Beverly, said was a devastating effect on his social life.

"They (the students) respected me enough to know I couldn't speak loud," Snedecor said. "My room was always quiet for that reason."

He had been an outgoing person. "After the operation, the only people I associated with were close friends," he said.

He sometimes avoided people because of the embarrassment. People would nod their heads at the wrong time, he said. Others would scream at him, believing that if he couldn't speak normally, he mustn't be able to hear, either.

Snedecor said his teaching, busy board schedule, family (he and Beverly have three daughters) and his religious faith helped keep him from the depression that afflicts many who have lost their voice.

Snedecor continued to serve on the Collinsville Board of Education after his operation, and was elected to a third straight term in 1976.

Still, there were some trying times. Reid remembers "there were times when Bill would get down and not want to talk to people."

Other teachers had difficulty understanding him, and were reluctant at times to engage him in conversation, he said. "Bill got the idea people were avoiding him," Reid said.

Snedecor and his wife were understandably pleased when a friend early last year told them of an operation that might improve his voice.

Just before Easter, they flew to Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with Dr. James Stallings. Stallings told Snedecor he'd be an excellent candidate for the type of operation that the surgeon had begun performing.

Snedecor had that operation last July. It involved using an extra tendon from his arm to make a passageway between his windpipe and his esophagus.

By covering the opening in his neck when he exhales, Snedecor forces air into that passage and is able to speak. The sound comes from the vibration of that connection.

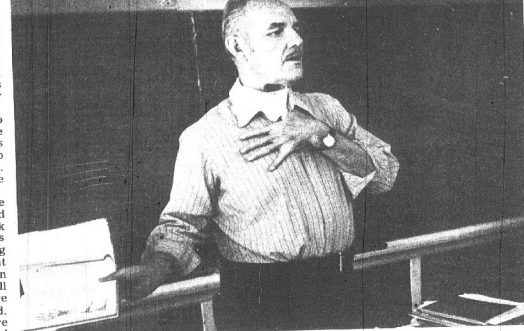

Almost immediately, the quality and volume of his speech improved. He became able to speak continuously for as long as it takes to exhale: good esophageal speakers can only say seven to 10 words in one breath, Snedecor explained.

Snedecor left the Collinsville school board last April; he decided not to run for re-election because he knew his surgery would cause him to miss some meetings. He has declined requests that he run for the board again this spring.

He left Frohardt School last August after 22 years, but his retirement from teaching was short-lived.

"I got tired of lying around," Snedecor said. "Mr. (John) Renfro (Collinsville school superintendent) said, 'Why don't you substitute?' He says he now substitutes in grades four through seven whenever he gets the chance."

"I didn't realize how much I loved the children," he said. "I missed the children more than I do the board." "Bill always had a good, especially good trait," said

Les Bickel. "He had a knack with kids."

Bickel, director of elementary education here, has known Snedecor since Snedecor's days as a teacher in Collinsville. Bickel thinks the substitute teaches children "a feeling of compassion," and that "under a hardship, you can still succeed at what you do."

Snedecor learned last fall just how well he was succeeding at his new form of speech. He was invited to an international symposium of surgeons in Des Moines. The surgeons discussed the type of surgery performed on Snedecor and other former larynx cancer patients.

"When I left here and went there, I didn't know if I was good, bad or average," he said. He concluded that only three of the other 20 patients there spoke as well or better than he. "Oh, did I feel good!" Snedecor said. "And I've been talking ever since."

Among those he has talked to are other potential surgical patients and students in Carey's classes at SIUE.

Ahead, eventually, is another operation by Stallings, Snedecor said. That operation will enable him to breathe through his mouth and nose, improve his sense of taste, and restore his sense of smell.

He does not worry about a recurrence of cancer. He was told that cancer of the larynx usually does not spread, and that after three years a person is considered cured.

"I have always trusted in God with it," he said. "I have no fear of it coming back."

Another school child incident

Another report of a man attempting to pick up an elementary school girl after school was received by Granite City police Monday.

An 8-year-old girl reported she was walking home from school and was on 31st Avenue between Myrtle and Buxton avenues about 3:15 p.m. Monday when a reddish brown auto stopped beside her and the driver rolled down the window and offered her a ride.

The girl said she had been warned by her teachers to run away if a stranger offered her a ride, so she ran to a nearby uncle's home to seek help.

She described the driver as 20 to 30 years old, thin, having short dark hair and a dark mustache.

The report was the fourth in less than a week of men attempting to lure young girls into their cars. Other incidents have occurred near Marshall and Frohardt elementary schools.

"We cannot be sure how accurate these reports are, since they are from small children and the children have been cautioned to watch for suspicious activities by men," Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer said.

"However," he emphasized, "we want people to report suspicious activities and to try to obtain a license number, if possible. We are checking every lead," he said.

Police cars are patrolling around all the elementary schools in the district as school is dismissed, at a safety precaution, he added.

Misdemeanor charges of aggravated assault and criminal trespass to property filed against Patricia Lupardus, 36, of the 2200 block of Ohio Avenue, have been dismissed in Madison County Circuit Court. Mrs. Lupardus said the charges were dismissed because the alleged victim failed to appear in court to pursue the matter.

Collecting wild food this spring

By BOB WILLIAMS

SIUE School of Education

The warm winds and hot sun have hopefully cleared away the last remembrance of this winter's snow. The weather is changing, geese have been observed flying North, fur from shedding animals is seen clinging to low branches, and the buds on the early blooming trees or shrubs bulge with the prospect of blooming. All signs point to spring.

Spring, the time of rebirth and growth, is anticipated and waited upon as no other season. The word itself brings thoughts of newness, of bursting forth from den and soil or of clean freshness. To the plant forager, it is a special time.

With the long winter, we have been unable to collect anything but a few plants and now need to be out with basket and bag, picking. Then, too, the lover of wood and byways longs for the riot of colors that accompanies a spring bloom.

We need the sight of acres of woodlands covered with the delicate pinks and whites of the spring beauty, sprinkled with patches of purple of violets or green of May apples.

Spring is the time to walk in the woods. The plants are just bursting forth from their seeds or roots. As one walks, it is easy to see far across wooded areas, thus catching a glimpse of strange soil or plant formations that later may be hidden by green foliage.

In the spring, tiny six or eight-legged creatures haven't emerged from their eggs or winter retreats to attach themselves to your skin.

In early spring, poison ivy will not have leafed out, so, fear of its effect will be lessened. In the spring, the woods are ours.

If any of you, however, are susceptible to poison ivy, you might check with your family doctor about taking a series of shots of immunity. The series of four should be taken early because you will then be made itch-free for the entire summer.

What you need to think about doing now is to clear your freezers and purchase materials for storing the spring harvest.

You must remember that plants you collect this spring will not be available for another year; so, saving them is important. Because spring plants grow so abundantly, quantities of almost every kind can be collected, precooked and frozen for later use.

During the next weeks, we will discuss preparation and use of many wild herbs, which include burdock, cattails, day lily, dandelion, chickweed, pigweed and milkweed.

The best part of spring collecting, however, is the time spent collecting mushrooms. The morels are "king" in spring, and this area is "super" for collecting.

Also found are the fawn mushroom, pig's ear and oyster mushrooms—all with different flavors and varied growing areas.

Can it be that wild food collecting in woods or fields is more fun than bowling, bridge or any other sport? I think so.

We need to follow the lead of Milton when he said, "In those vernal seasons of the year, when the air is calm and pleasant, it were an injury and silliness against nature not to go out and see her riches, parake in her rejoicing with heaven and earth."

Send questions or comments to Prof. Bob Williams, School of Education, Box 122, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026.

MAN HURT IN CRASH

Omar Evans, 63, Granite City, was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center early this week after he was involved in an auto accident. He suffered back pain and was released after X-rays were taken.

SILHOUETTE AND REFLECTION of a Granite City fireman are seen Monday evening, above, as fire destroys a vacant warehouse at 1609 Grand Ave. The 15,000-square-foot structure was owned by the Tri-City Grocery Co., which had used it for a records storage facility until 1978. Twenty-six firefighters were on the scene for nearly six hours. Arson is suspected.

Below — Repair crews of Illinois Power at the fire scene in the 1600 block of Grand Avenue Tuesday morning, continuing repairs on a 4,160 volt feeder circuit which was burned through by the fire. Four "cherry pickers" — hydraulic arms with buckets attached — are seen being used in restoring the cables affected. About 622 customers were without power for a 40-minute period shortly after 9 p.m. Monday and several remained without electricity for more than 11 hours.

Charged with pointing shotgun

Leonard D. Johnson, 29, of 2214 Missouri Ave., was arrested in Kirkpatrick Homes at 6:30 p.m. Monday and was charged with aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon and two counts of criminal damage to property.

A resident of the 3900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes said a blue pickup truck drove through her yard and another yard to get around a parked vehicle blocking the alley and the truck struck some trash cans in the alley. The resident said she asked the driver why he drove through the yards and alleged he aimed a shotgun at her. She was holding a baby and dropped the child, believing the driver was about to shoot her.

She then ran to a neighbor's apartment and called police. Officers found a truck matching that description in the 2900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes with a man approaching it. He was searched and was arrested when a loaded 12-gauge shotgun and an empty rifle were allegedly found on the floorboard. There also were three live shotgun shells on the dashboard, officers alleged.

Johnson was lodged in the Granite City Jail. While in a cell, he allegedly stuffed a sock into a toilet and caused water to flood the cell.

Groups meet privately on schools' finances

Progress was made this week between teachers' representatives and Granite City School District administrators during discussions on the school district's financial condition, Shirley Stoll, president of Local 743 of the American Federation of Teachers, told the Press-Record.

The teachers filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court this month to compel the school district to provide all financial records to the teachers.

A discovery hearing on the district's financial books was started at the school board office Monday afternoon and concluded Tuesday afternoon. The teachers were barred from the meetings after Ray Freeark, attorney for the teachers, objected to reporters being in the room when the discovery hearing began at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

"We are concerned that there was no prior notification of the presence of the press. Until this discovery is complete and copies filed, we object to the press being present," Freeark said.

Harold Baker, an attorney for the school district, said he had no objections to reporters being present, since the district's financial books have always been public.

However, Baker said, he would have to honor Freeark's request that the discovery process be kept private, and reporters were asked to leave the room.

Miss Stoll pledged that a transcript of the discovery will be made available to the teachers. The text of that statement follows:

"Granite City School District officials were shocked at the lawsuit filed last week by Local 743 of the Granite City Federation of Teachers. Everything requested in their suit has been available to them, or would have been available to them upon request.

"Since school began this fall, the only financial reports requested by the union have been the adopted budget for 1979-80 and payroll information. They had received a copy of the tentative budget last summer," the statement concluded.

Participating in the discovery hearing for the teachers, besides Freeark and the president were Larry Oak, Russell Chappell and LaVena Corbett.

Administrators present were Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis, Director of Business Affairs Tully A. Heubner and Gerald Brown, administrative assistant-personnel.

A two-year working agreement on teachers' pay and working conditions was ratified by the union and the school board at the beginning of this school year, but there has been no public announcement whether union officers have signed the ratified agreement.

Miss Stoll said the union's representatives will attend a public hearing Tuesday evening, March 25, at which plans to dismiss a number of teachers as part of a general cost-cutting effort will be discussed. She did not say whether the planned reduction in staff is related to the search the teachers are making into the district's financial records.

George Sanders to be bio'd by MGM

By CINDY ADAMS

NEW YORK — George Sanders, who had four wives among them being a pair of Gabors (Zsa Zsa and Magda), plus the widow of Ronald Coleman, Renita Hume — is being immortalized in an MGM film bio. Two-time mother-in-law Jolie Gabor will probably want Bu Derek to play her — Italian actor Robert Alda, who is the papa of Alan Alda, is writing a fascinating book "99 Ways To Cook Pasta."

Jim Nabors, who ain't no Luciano Pavarotti, is looking to throw his singing voice into a Broadway musical — "Peter O'Toole: I like being around men with a drink in their hands. Some people aren't for me." Tony Curtis: "I travel so light that the customs guys probably think I'm a smuggler." Franco Zeffirelli is adapting "a fabulous book," "Endless Love," into a movie — Mickey Rooney is running hot. He's now going to open a fast-food chain — If you get close to Mick Jagger, ask to see his private stock of private photos. I understand you might recognize some of the people.

Bette Midler: "L.A. is a garbage can in the salad of human achievement." Now I don't personally know what that means, but I have a feeling it isn't anything you'd want to cross-stitch on a sampler — Little Brooke Shields is dieting.

The late Susan Hayward's twin boys, Tim and Greg, just turned 35, and her will provided for them to be given $750,000 apiece on their birthday. They got it.

Candice Bergen and Dick Clark waited in line to see the ultra porno flick, "Caligula," which cost producer Bob Guccione $17 mil. For another back and a half he could have gotten a scissor, if you understand what I mean.

Hollywood still has theatrical dynasties

By RUTH THOMPSON

In their heyday, the Barrymores — John, Lionel and Ethel — the talented and celebrated offspring of two theatrical dynasties (the Drews and the Blythe-Barrymores), were once lauded and paraded as "The Royal Family" of the stage.

The dynasty of the Barrymores has long since passed into history, but the performing arts are not without ongoing dynasties. A skimming of television shows of recent weeks and of notes about productions in progress yields such current major names: Aldo, Montgomery, Zimbalist, Carradine and Newman.

Alan Alda, a star now of movies as well as television, and an able writer and director as well, made it a family affair in a recent episode of "M.A.S.H." when he brought in his father Robert and his 23-year-old half-brother Anthony as a visiting surgeon and young medic respectively. Papa Robert, who starred as Sky Masterson in the original Broadway production of "Guys and Dolls," has moved smoothly from romantic to character roles and said recently he might do a series himself if a good one comes along.

Elizabeth Montgomery got her first television role from her father in his highly regarded "Robert Montgomery Presents" series, but it wasn't long before critics hailed her acting talent. Her popularity as a comedienne in "Bewitched" never deterred her from tackling such heavy dramas as "The Legend of Lizzie Borden." Viewers will see her next (Wednesday, April 2 on CBS) in "Belle Starr."

Data on solar energy in state

A directory of information useful to the potential solar energy consumer has been published by the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources.

The Illinois Solar Energy Directory includes information on tax credits and grant funds available to users of solar energy; consumer protection tips; listings of solar equipment manufacturers, suppliers, installers and solar home builders; and the names of solar energy consultants, organizations and sources of further information.

The 400 listings are intended to include, as nearly as possible, all of the solar-related businesses and organizations in Illinois that can be of assistance to consumers who want to know more about solar energy or who are ready to make use of proven solar applications. The directory is published at a time when Illinois interest in solar energy is increasing.

Over the past two years, the number of solar installations in Illinois has more than doubled, currently standing at over 1,000 systems. Solar energy is being used to heat residences, factories, schools, municipal buildings, churches, museums, swimming pools and veterinary clinics. Farms are using solar energy to heat livestock buildings and machine sheds, and to dry crops.

Through the directory listings, energy consumers can contact experienced solar businesses for design, installation and repair of solar systems.

No quality rankings or judgments are made in the directory; however, there is a section intended to help consumers choose good contractors and ensure high quality.

The directory is free and may be obtained by writing: Illinois Institute of Natural Resources, Solar Section, 325 W. Adams St., Room 3000 Springfield, Ill. 62706.
